

Securing rights, protecting the world's land and forests

Advancing land and forest tenure security, and the rights and livelihoods of Indigenous Peoples and local communities across the developing world.

TENURE FACILITY

The Tenure Facility is the first and only multi-stakeholder institution exclusively focused on securing collective rights to land and forests by directly supporting the true owners and guardians of these precious resources.

By supporting initiatives proposed by in-country actors and prioritizing areas where there is a real opportunity to advance local tenure, The Tenure Facility can address the insecure community land and resource rights that drive conflict and undermine progress on global human rights, environment, and development goals.
